AMERICAN PILOT KILLED BY JAPS

TEXAS AIRMAN ATTEMPTS RECORD FLIGHT

FORMER ARMY PILOT AND BACKER LAUNCH BUENOS AIRES TRIP

Hoping To Establish Distance Record; To Drop Notes

(BULLETIN)
BOSTON, Feb. 23.—Nat C. Browne and Edward Muldowney, ex-army fliers, enroute from Old Orchard Beach, Me., to Buenos Aires, came down at East Boston Airport shortly before 11 a. m. today, their hopes of setting up a new long distance flight record going aglimmering. A section of their landing gear was broken in landing.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Feb. 23.—Roaring down the long silvery stretch of hard sand and climbing slowly above the Atlantic into the sun, Nat C. Browne, former army airman and Texas pilot, set off at 8:25 a. m. today on a projected long distance non-stop record flight to Buenos Aires.

Behind Browne in a "rumble seat" arrangement of his specially equipped monoplane sat Edward Muldowney, wealthy Scranton, Penn., sportsman.

Although details of the flight have been cloaked in mystery, it was generally understood that Browne and his wartime flying "buddy" were off on an air hike of 5400 air line miles to Buenos Aires in an effort to break the long distance nonstop flight record of Russell Boardman and John Poland from New York to Istanbul, Turkey, last year, a distance of 5639 miles.

After two hours of warming up the motor Browne guided his plane along the sand up the beach to Pine Point. After a mile run the plane made a quick take off at 8:52 a. m. but Browne had difficulty in gaining altitude as he swept down the long beach.

Browne almost crashed into the beach when he reached the lower end of the beach, he swung over the Atlantic in the nick of time. He circled over Bay View and then headed south.

The bright red Super-Fokker monoplane, with the words "Lone Star" printed under the wings and with NR1776 on the tail, was equipped with a new invention by the pilot for releasing the landing gear.

A set of light midget wheels can be let out through slits in the plane's fabric when the destination is reached and thus prevent a "crash" landing.

Browne, just before heading due south estimated he would be able to make at least 120 miles an hour down the Atlantic seaboard until the Carolinas are reached. There the weather map showed spots of rain but clearing at Atlanta, Ga., and beyond to the South American jungles over which the flyers will soar. From here to the Carolinas "unlimited ceiling" with a bright sun was reported by the government weather bureau. The "ship" was favored by a tail wind.

"We have enough gasoline for between fifty and sixty hours of flying," said Browne just before the take off. The Boardman-Poland plane was forty-nine hours and twenty minutes in the air.

The plane has no radio equipment but Muldowney carried a bag full of messages to drop over cities and towns enroute south.

Some of the mystery surrounding the flight was cleared a short time before the hop.

Contrary to previous reports, the "Lone Star," named after Browne's home state of Texas, is a "new ship." It was constructed for a trans-Pacific flight. The monoplane has thirty hours of flying service, three hours of which were made in the hop from New York to this point last Saturday afternoon.

The "Lone Star" carried 1,000 gallons of gasoline in eight regular wing tanks and one main tank and seventy-five gallons in emergency tanks. The regular supply of oil was fifteen gallons, with twenty-five gallons additional taken aboard.

The wings of the plane are of wood, covered with light metal, and have a spread of fifty-two feet.

FLIGHT HELPS DOG

MARTINS FERRY, O., Feb. 23.—Thanks to the mysteries of aviation, Ralph Hittman's deaf dog could hear its own bark today. Capt. J. W. Hunt of Moundsville, W. Va., took the dog aloft over Yorkville airport. After flying at 10,000 feet and executing a few dives, the pilot brought the ship to earth and found the dog's deafness cured.

GARNER CANDIDACY BREAKS INTO OPEN; OTHERS SHOW WORRY

Texas Endorses Him; Speaker Refuses To Aid Movement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Breaking out of the favorite son class, the presidential boom for Speaker John N. Garner moved boldly into the national field today. It is assuming proportions that constitute real worry to other Democratic aspirants.

The Garner movement is particularly menacing to the candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, for the Texas is drawing support from those sections which the Roosevelt managers from the start have claimed as peculiarly their own—the South and West.

The state-wide rally in San Antonio yesterday clinched the forty-six delegates from Texas for Garner, and with that as a nucleus his enthusiastic supporters now plan to reach out into other states in quest of Garner delegates. Of necessity they must reach into Roosevelt territory.

An example of this has speedily appeared in Georgia. Governor Roosevelt's "adopted state," where Judge G. H. Howard entered the primary as a proxy for the Texan. Should he win, he announced he would turn the delegates over to Garner in the convention. Similar action is contemplated in other Southern and Western states. Louisiana already is accounted Garner territory, as Senator Huey Long has announced he favors Garner. Movements are either under way or will be shortly in Kansas, New Mexico and Arizona, and elsewhere.

The Roosevelt managers are exhibiting signs of acute concern. They had counted on almost solid support for the New York governor from the Southern and Western states once the complimentary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The anniversary of George Washington's birthday will be well remembered by Mrs. John N. Garner, she stated today. Committee Chairman Fears Damage To Ship Permanent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Congressional investigation of alleged defects in the navy's giant airship Akron was at an end today because of the accidental damage suffered by the ship at Lakehurst, N. J., yesterday.

Rep. McClintic (D) of Oklahoma, chairman of the investigating committee, said he feared possible permanent damage to the Akron and will not ride on it.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Feb. 23.—The pride of the navy, the dirigible Akron, was so badly damaged by a gale that it will not be able to participate in the naval maneuvers at the Pacific coast next month, navy officials said today.

The world's largest airship yesterday was caught in a sudden gust of wind just before taking off on a flight with a party of congress members who were to inspect the craft after charges had been hurled it was defective.

Just as it was taken out of its hangar, the Akron was bounced to the ground by the wind. The stabilizer fin was demolished and some of the fabric of the airship was ripped off.

One officer and one enlisted man were slightly hurt.

It will probably require several weeks to repair the damage.

The mishap was witnessed by all the members appointed by congress to pass on the airworthiness of the Akron. They were scheduled to take a six-hour inspection trip in the dirigible.

"It was a sad but thrilling sight," said Representative James V. McClintic, Oklahoma, chairman of the congressional committee, "to watch that great ship, helpless in the wind, tossed against the ground."

A thin strand of the cable holding the Akron to her mooring mast snapped in a gust of wind after the dirigible had been taken out of the hangar, officials said.

The stern reared upward, then crashed to the ground. The rear control car was damaged in the resultant bump.

The two men injured were Lieutenant Calvin M. Bolster, who suffered a fractured wrist and a gashed chin, and Frank L. Gonsior, machinist's mate, who sustained contusions of the thigh.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Because of a damaged vertical fin, sustained by the navy's new dirigible U. S. S. Akron, in a proposed trial spin, congressional sanction of the big blimp will be withheld for the present, according to Rep. McClintic (D) of Oklahoma, chairman of the house naval affairs sub-committee. The committee visited Lakehurst, N. J., yesterday for a trial spin in the ship, and to inspect it for alleged structural defects, reported from Akron, O., where the ship was under construction.

RESOLUTION HITS CROONERS

MARION, O., Feb. 23.—Voices of singers at the annual Central Ohio Elsteddoff were raised today in a great shout of protest against radio crooners.

A resolution, enthusiastically approved when it was read to a crowd of 2,000 last night, objected to "many of the low, vulgar and obnoxious types of radio crooning" as "an insult to the intelligence and finer sensibilities of the average home which has a love for better things."

In addition, the resolution called upon music organizations to "let advertisers know we expect them to stop them."

Officials also voted to hold next year's Elsteddoff at Ada on February 22 under auspices of Ohio Northern University.

OHIOANS IN CLASS
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 23.—Four Ohio students of the advanced aviation school at Kelly Field, who are among the 100 who may graduate Friday, are Don W. Smith of Fremont, Lawrence K. Welch of Youngstown, Russell L. Waldron of Ray and Maurice W. Wiley of Edgerton.

HITLER BECOMES CITIZEN OF GERMANY TO SEEK PRESIDENCY

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Adolph Hitler became a citizen of Germany today, and thus removed the great legal obstacle which had prevented his becoming a candidate for the presidency.

Fascist headquarters announced the Brunswick government had appointed him a "professor of popular education" in the Brunswick Polytechnic School. This automatically made the fiery Fascist citizen, by birth an Austrian, a German.

Hitler's candidacy was announced last night, along with that of Colonel Theodore Duesterburg, who will be the steel helmet candidate. These two and the Communist candidate, Thaelmann, will oppose President Paul von Hindenburg in the national elections March 13.

The candidacy of Duesterburg was announced after the Nationalists, steel helmets, and Fascists failed to agree upon a single man to oppose the powerful Hindenburg. Hitler was reported to have made too many demands for Fascist power for the other two militarist organizations to unite behind him.

Political observers favored Hindenburg to win, particularly in view of the split in the opposition ranks.

Hitler expects to reach his first lecture Thursday. He probably will outline the Nazi theories advising a nationalistic education of the youth of the country and the reverence of historic military figures. The Fascist leader was given

HYMIE MARTIN IS GIVEN NEW TRIAL

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23.—New hope for freedom was held today by Hyman (Pittsburgh) Hymie Martin as an appeal to the state supreme court from the decision of the appellate court reversing the conviction of Martin for the slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter was considered by Cuyahoga County authorities.

Whether the case will be retried in the common pleas court here in accordance with the ruling of the appellate court, or be taken to the supreme court for further deliberation rested in a decision of County Prosecutor P. L. A. Leighley.

Leighley, who served as chief assistant to Ray T. Miller when the later prosecuted Martin for the slaying, said today that he would study the appellate ruling before commenting on his proposed action.

The appellate court by a vote of three to two, held that there was no evidence of "premeditation and deliberation on the part of Martin in connection with the homicide" of Potter.

AIRMAN IN CHINESE SERVICE SHOT DOWN DURING PLANE RAID

Fatally Wounds Jap Flyer Before Being Brought Down; Invaders Merely Hold Own Awaiting Arrival Of Reinforcements

By International News Service

The first American death in the Sino-Japanese hostilities was revealed today when it was learned that Robert M. Short, Los Angeles airman, lost his life in a thrilling aerial duel with from three to six Japanese planes over Soochow yesterday.

On the heels of a joint protest by the American, British, Italian and Portuguese ministers over the Chinese shelling of the international settlement in Shanghai, big guns roared again today just beyond the concession boundaries when Japanese artillery resumed bombardment of the Chapei district.

The Japanese government decided to dispatch two more divisions of infantry to Shanghai, virtually doubling her present forces in the war area, according to information received in Shanghai.

In Tokyo, the Japanese government issued a vigorous reply to the recent note of the League of Nations council, disclaiming any intention to attack the territorial integrity of China or to violate the League covenant or existing treaties.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—Robert M. Short, an American of Los Angeles, California, was shot down and killed at Soochow yesterday in an air battle with three Japanese planes.

Short was the only American pilot flying in the Chinese service. The news startled the foreign population as it reached here today.

Short was flying a Boeing pursuit plane, and reports said the Japanese did not know they were fighting an American.

The air battle was bitter, the American pilot staging a brave fight with the three Japanese planes before meeting his death. Lieutenant Kodani, an observer in one of the Japanese machines also was killed.

His identity unknown to the Japanese, Short's plane suddenly swooped within the range of the three Japanese craft while they were surveying the Shanghai-Soochow railway zone.

The Japanese claimed the lone airman attacked them. They responded to the fire and as the three Japanese planes wheeled and circled to maneuver the "enemy" into a vulnerable position, one of the Japanese gunners scored a direct hit.

Short's plane faltered and then dove, a crashing mass of flames. The American pilot was believed to have been instantly killed. But a moment later one of the Japanese planes landed nearby and Lieut. Kodani was found fatally wounded in his blood-spattered cockpit. One of Short's shots had taken telling effect and Kodani died before he could be removed from his plane.

While the Japanese stated Short fought three Japanese planes, Lt. Col. Shen, commander of the Chinese air force, declared that the American pilot met his death in a battle against six Japanese machines.

Shen described Short merely as "pilot of a lone Chinese pursuit plane" because of the possibility of international complications if he definitely identified him as an American. Shen described the thrilling air battle and the events preceding in the following words:

"Yesterday nine Chinese planes encountered twelve Japanese planes over the Kiangwan battle lines."

"Brisk fighting followed, the planes flying back and forth between Kiangwan and Chenju. One Japanese plane was shot down behind the Chinese lines before the aerial combat roared further afield and the Chinese and Japanese aviators lost trace of each other."

"Then six Japanese planes appeared over Soochow. A lone Chinese pursuit plane went into the sky and launched an attack upon them. Before his plane was brought down, the pilot of the lone Chinese plane succeeded in hitting two."

DE VALERA TO HAVE 77 SEATS IN DAIL

DUBLIN, Feb. 23.—Final returns in the Irish Free State election today showed the followers of Eamon De Valera will have seventy-seven seats in the new dail, giving them a clear majority over the government party of President William T. Cosgrave.

With the exception of the seven seats to be filled by the vote March 3 in Leitrim County, the new dail will be composed as follows:

Fianna Fail (De Valera) 68; government party 53; labor 7; independent labor two; independents and farmers 15.

The labor parties will vote with De Valera.

Short's death-defying dash into battle yesterday apparently was in the nature of vindication, since he previously was an instructor employed by the Nanking aviation force and was dismissed when he cracked up a new bombing plane.

Lieutenant Short's battle was the fourth aerial duel between Japanese and Chinese planes "in which we downed three Japanese planes and lost but one Chinese," Japanese military officials insist, however, that the planes they lost in the past were shot down by anti-aircraft guns.

Japanese military headquarters issued an official communique today briefly describing the air duel, but they were apparently unaware that the victim of their airman's guns was an American.

The communique credited the Chinese with killing Lieutenant Kodani, and made mention of the fact that the "enemy" plane shot down was one of the latest and most efficient American models.

The American consulate had no report of the flyer's death immediately after word of it reached here, but L. E. Gales and Company, an American firm here, revealed that Short was in their employ.

Officials of the company said the pilot was lent by them to the Chinese aviation corps, but only for a

JAPANESE REPLY TO LEAGUE DISCLAIMS COUNCIL'S CHARGES

Denies Violation Of Treaties or Attack Upon China

TOKYO, Feb. 23.—The Japanese government, of a vigorous reply to the League of Nations' Council's recent note, disclaims any intention to attack the territorial integrity of China or to violate the League covenant or existing treaties.

The text of the note was made public today a few hours after the cabinet, at an emergency meeting, approved the dispatch of more reinforcements to Shanghai.

The reply was addressed by Kenjiro Yoshizawa, foreign minister to Joseph Paul-Boncour of France, presiding over the League Council. It sets forth the following points:

First: Tokyo cannot understand why the League addressed its peace plea to Japan and not China.

Second—The League note had no positive peace suggestion to offer such as the establishment of a demilitarized zone, as Yoshizawa has informally proposed, but the council appears to expect Japan to lay down arms and allow the Chinese to occupy the international settlement.

Third—Japan takes strong exception to the assumption that China is willing to resort to a peaceful solution of the controversy. The reply declares there is no reason why China's aggressive measures should be condoned because of her Pacific declarations inasmuch as Japan has participated "unreservedly" in attempts to reach a settlement under the League covenant.

Fourth—Japan's defensive measures at Shanghai do not infringe article ten of the covenant, pledging League members not to attack the territorial integrity of another League power.

Fifth—Japan contends that since she has no territorial designs upon China it is superfluous for the League Council to call her attention to article ten and for this reason she is totally unable to understand the allegation that she has acted in defiance of the covenant.

Sixth—Japan is fully prepared to abide by her obligations under the Nine-Power Pacific treaty to which the United States is also a signatory.

Some of the mystery surrounding the flight was cleared a short time before the hop.

"Yesterday nine Chinese planes encountered twelve Japanese planes over the Kiangwan battle lines. "Brisk fighting followed, the planes flying back and forth between Kiangwan and Chenju."

"One Japanese plane was shot down behind the Chinese lines before the aerial combat roared further afield and the Chinese and Japanese aviators lost trace of each other."

"Then six Japanese planes appeared over Soochow. A lone Chinese plane went into the sky and launched an attack upon them. Before his plane was brought down, the pilot of the lone Chinese plane succeeded in hitting two."

week is known as "Public Confidence Week" and declared that the nation is "suffering from a lack of faith in humanity and in Almighty God." He declared that "the spirit of evil is abroad throughout the world" and expressed the hope that "we come back to the God of our fathers."

Captain Harold L. Hays, chairman of the Greene County George Washington Bi-Centennial Commission, turned the meeting over to Louis Hammerle, superintendent of schools and secretary of the commission, who presided and introduced the speakers. He also announced the winners of a Washington essay contest conducted throughout the schools by Foody Post and checks were presented to the winners present by L. N. Shephard, treasurer of the commission.

Three winners were selected from each of the grades from the fourth to the twelfth, out of 1,300 essays submitted by the children. From all of these the essay of Miss Katherine Chew, winner of first place in the senior class, was chosen also as the best of all submitted and Miss Chew was asked to read her composition from the platform. The essay was a well-written tribute to the First President and showed the results of much research and preparation.

Winners of the other essay prizes were as follows: senior—Charles Weaver, second and Margaret Harden, third; juniors—Mary Nel Dunkel, first; Frank Wolf, second and Gladys Price, third; sophomores, Loumetta Hudson, first; Annetta Johnson, second and Betty Hupman, third; freshmen, Hattie Stills, first; Betty Jane Smith, second and Florence Lindsay, third.

Eighth grade, Donald Anderson, first; Robert Bruce, second and James Stout, third; seventh grade, Argonne Harden, first; John Hammerle, second and Susie Bell Hall, third; sixth grade, Doris Joan Reed, first; Virginia Palmer, second and Jean Tilford, third; fifth grade, Betty Trunnell, first; Mary Anne Baldwin, second and Charlotte Anderson, third; fourth grade, Gertrude Fulton, first; Elizabeth Schultz, second, and Fawntella Barnes, third.

Cohan. The audience joined in singing "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Rev. James P. Lytle, chaplain in the U. S. Army Reserve Corps, opened the meeting with invocation and pronounced the benediction at close of the exercises. Legion members in uniform advanced the colors at the beginning of the program and retired the colors before the ceremonies closed.

BROADWAY STAR IS SECRETLY WED

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Clairborne Foster, Broadway actress, and Maxwell J. Rice, former Yale student, were secretly married ten days ago in Connecticut, it is revealed.

Miss Foster is a leading lady of the New York stage, having appeared in "The Patsy" and several other hits. She is a native of Louisiana. Rice, a native of New Jersey, is well-known in the aviation industry. He and his bride will make their home in Rio.

votes for favorite sons are out of the way. Almost solid support from these sections has been considered necessary in order to offset the lack of Roosevelt strength in the large delegations of the North and East.

The Garner movement will have to swing along as best it can without any material assistance from the speaker himself. He does not plan to lift a finger in his own behalf nor to stop the efforts of his friends. He plans simply to ignore the whole thing and stick to his not too easy task of maintaining a Democratic legislative majority in the house with a precarious margin of six votes.

Some states, like Georgia, require the written consent of the candidate before his name can be entered upon the primary ballots. In such cases, Garner's consent will not be given. If an effort is made to capture such delegates for him, it will have to be by the proxy route such as Judge Howard took in Georgia.

Some of his friends have importuned him to abandon such a policy and consent to the use of his name, but the speaker has been obdurate on the point.

He takes the position that the office of the speakership precludes such a course. Once he consented to the entry of his name on the ballots of any state it would make him an avowed candidate for the nomination, and in his opinion it is inconsistent for the speaker to be an avowed candidate for any office. As a candidate for President in the speakership, it is pointed out that every decision he made, every ruling, might be reviewed in a political light. His position would become vulnerable in that he would become a potential target for the shafts of Republicans and Democrats supporting other candidates. In Garner's opinion this would tend to destroy the dignity and the effectiveness of the speaker's control of the house, and to that he is not willing to consent.

There is, however, a vast undercurrent movement in Garner's behalf among the Democratic members of the house who are genuinely fond of the homespun Texan. His Texas colleagues, of course, are openly for him, and so are a considerable number of others who have been on the fence as between Roosevelt, Smith, Ritchie, Baker, and other possibilities.

But some of the members who have been pushed by home state sentiment into publicly declaring for this or that candidate are secretly doing all they can to promote the Garner movement. There are 229 Democrats in the house, most of whom are politically influential in their districts. It is probably safe to say that "Jack" Garner hasn't an enemy among them. Such an influential force cannot be ignored in the four months that yet remain before the Democrats at Chicago get down to the business of naming a candidate.

SUFFERED FOR FORTY YEARS

Then One Lucky Day She Used Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is great news for sufferers from constipation. Read Mrs. Kendig's voluntary letter:

"For about forty years I had been praying for a lasting remedy for constipation and its attending evils. To make it short, I ate nothing but ALL-BRAN and a little broth. Since that time (about ten years ago) I have not taken any medicine. Have been well and en- tirely free from constipation."—Mrs. I. H. Kendig, R. F. D. No. 2, Lancaster, Penna.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Labora- tory tests show ALL-BRAN furnishes both. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

Isn't it much pleasanter to enjoy ALL-BRAN than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful?

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipa- tion. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal, or use in cook- ing. It is not habit-forming. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

O give thanks unto the God of heaven: for his mercy endureth for ever.—Psalm cxxxvi, 26.

DOLE COSTLY

The British Government has spent on unemployment relief since 1924, a statement in the Commons on Wednesday showed, approximately $3,500,000,000. The "dole" comes high. This tremendous outlay was in addition to the cost of local relief schemes, which added their separate loads to the backs of the taxpayers. What the total is no one has computed; and in spite of it all, unemployment increased last month by 218,000 to a total of roughly 2,750,000.

When the Senate in Washington recently voted a proposal to pave the way for a "dole" in this country it blocked such a financial fate for the American people. If Great Britain has spent $3,500,000,000 in eight years on a population one-third that of the United States, what would the "dole" cost American taxpayers in a similar period of time?

There are other ways of meeting the unemployment problem, as various agencies now working in the United States will in due course prove. The way not to cure unemployment is to feed it from the National treasury. The way to cure it is to bring the latent wealth of the country to the surface of industry and thus provide productive work for the jobless.

"BILL'S" CONTRIBUTION

Alfalfa Bill Murray's hat constitutes a picturesque contribution to the ring that is rapidly filling up with Democratic headgear. Gov. Murray formally announced his candidacy for the Presidential nomination of his party this year, at Collinsville, Tex., after having filed in North Dakota and sent an emissary into Georgia to spy out the land and discover its political fertility.

Among the inalienable rights of American citizens is that of aspiring to their Chief Magistracy. "General" Coxe, veteran of an historic march on Washington, which did not get him further than the White House lawn, also desires, if we are correctly informed, to enter into that exalted abode and reside there long enough to remold the country nearer to his conception of what it should be. Why not double up and run Coxe and Alfalfa Bill as a team?

William H. Murray is a hard-fighting, two-listed Governor, as befits the State for which William J. Bryan wrote the most radical constitution possessed by any subdivision of the American Union, a Commander-in-Chief of organized militia as ready to make war on Texas over boundary bridges as on "oil magnates," over the price of petroleum.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT

Living near Budapest, a woman poultry farmer has beaten the scientists with a successful experiment in producing eggs each containing 0.169 milligrams of iodine, which does not affect the taste of the egg. It is said the human system can assimilate iodine contained in an egg more easily than in any other form.

Poulters in lake regions should find a ready market for "iodized eggs," if they could learn how to make their hens lay them. For Ohio is located in the "goiter belt" of the Great Lakes Basin and many natives suffer from imperfect functioning of the thyroid gland common to this region, due to iodine deficiency. Iodine in solution is prescribed for inactive thyroid. Dried kelp or seaweed high in iodine content is sold to the local markets. Iodized salt has been manufactured.

But it would be a simple and palatable matter if one could consume a daily ration of iodine with the breakfast egg.

MIGHT BE WORSE

As the American citizen savors his first mouthful of juicy steak at dinner-time, he should be aware that things might be a great deal worse with us. In Greece the Government has decreed three meatless days a week, along with other stabilizing measures, to maintain the drachma, Greek monetary unit. By restricting the consumption which would, if too great, require importation of meat, the drachma will be kept within the limits of the country. At present the exchange value of the drachma is $1.30, a fraction higher than at this time last year.

In the United States the buying power of the dollar is greater than it has been in years. There has been no occasion for Uncle Sam to step in and tell his children what they can buy or what they can eat, and when.

So we are reminded once more that every person with a job and a salary should consider it the highest patriotism to take advantage of the bargains at his door, always while living within his means. He should live normally and think hopefully, to help his Nation rid itself of the curious, unreasoning fear that is largely responsible for the present international paralysis. Life is still an adventure; and after all there are no pockets in a shroud.

Such of our trouble in realizing the aims of the peace movement comes from the fact that we are living in a new kind of world, and that the imaginations of the people have not yet caught up with it. Many things the churches cannot do about war and peace, but, if they were in earnest, they could bring up to date the imagination of the people concerning the monstrous folly of modern war.

In this new world nations are utterly interdependent. American citizens are everywhere; our property is everywhere; our material and spiritual interests are woven like threads into the fabric of the whole world's life. In this new world weapons have changed from poisoned arrows which could hit one, to poisoned gas, which can hit millions, so that no longer can wars be fought by professional armies only, but, as today is Shanghai, war always will fall hereafter on whole populations. That is the new world. In consequence, no one can really win a war. In modern war we saw off the limb we are sitting on; we make utter and insane fools of ourselves, and in the end commit mutual economic suicide. That is the new world, and the imagination of multitudes of people are still in the old world.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK.—Not that it matters: What a jolt when Jane and Catherine Lee were introduced from the floor of the Paramount grill the other night. Remember them? ...The child star flashes of early silent days.... They are still young, of course, but the realization that children must grow up in the movies always brings an odd pang. I felt the same way when I saw Jackie Coogan for the first time in long pants.... Will Morrissey, the producer, admits that he just doesn't seem able to team up with a hit show any more, but he says he's willing to be a flop to give the critics the satisfaction of saying "I told you so!" A remark which shimmers with other edges....

"Little Jack Little," of other fame, reminds me of Bobby Vernon, of silent comedy days.... By the way, where's Bobby now, anyway?...Abe Lyman, the jazz impresario, has the sort of chin people used to think of when they said "Strong and masterful!"

Dan Healy is the only master of ceremonies I can think of who isn't a bit rowdy.... He's so genteel of manner that ringers are awed and refrain from heckling him.... But it takes Jack White to put uproarious patrons in their places with lightning repartee.... I am told that Dr. Logan Clendenning gets the most abominably human and candid fan mail of any of the syndicated writers. But it's destined, of course, for his eyes alone.... That was an ingenious cameraman who concealed a small movie outfit in a bag of pretzels and ate the pretzels to drown the buzz of the machine while he filmed Eddie Cantor's act at the Palace....

STUDIO STUFF

Everybody who can wrangle a pass ought to tour the movie studios in Astoria.... A trip is full of interest, even for those who are familiar with west coast talkie making.... A different atmosphere prevails here.... More casual and good humored, it seems to me, if less fantastic....

Stuart Walker, the director, looks like a college professor—and talks like one.... He's making "Sensation" with Claudette Colbert, in Astoria now.... The rumor is that this is the last feature to be made in the east for a long time.... But this climate is ideal for night scenes—which are filmed on dark, cloudy days.... Most of the bit players have jobs in Broadway shows, and thus are able to double, for double pay....

The property room resembles a monster pawn shop.... The huge collection of pistols there, including every known type, from Der-ringers to tear gas squirters, is checked over carefully by the New York police department and counted.... If one were lost the outfit would find itself in a serious jam.... And the no smoking rule is strictly enforced in the studio.... Violators have actually been fined $50 for a single ciggie.... This is the result of the disastrous fire which swept the studio of another organization last year....

Few camera queens use grease-paint any more.... Make-up has slowly diminished until now it consists principally of orange powder dusted on with a brush.... New lights, new film, are responsible.... Experts in the laboratory of the big movie concerns still experiment feverishly with direct-color photography, but none has found the commercially ideal method yet....

THEY WOULD LOOK FAKED
One movie company announced it would get a number of real men to appear on their screen and use them as color in a newspaper play.... Wonder whether that's smart.... The catch is, it seems to me, few doctors or lawyers or milk wagon drivers really look like doctors, lawyers and milk wagon drivers.... People have simply built up illusions of types, and the real article is often a jolt.... Many writers I know resemble prosperous stock-brokers, some look like milk wagon drivers.... And true stories are almost never convincing in print....

LUCKY WRITERS
Once more Hollywood is dabbling with writers, spelled with a capital "R" that is, people whose works producers never read and therefore view with enormous respect. And also the film moguls are importing by the carload, writers of highly popular, mass-appeal stories. The names in the first group—all associated with picture production now—include P. Scott Fitzgerald, Somerset Maugham, Frederick Lonsdale. In the second bracket are to be found Edgar Wallace, whose recent death cut short an amazing career of talkie-concoction; Vina Delmar, Donald Ogden Stewart and Gene Markey.

Katharine Brush, whose fiction is unquestionably more in demand among magazine editors than that of any other writer, has mysterious projects up her chic sleeves these days, which she won't talk about, while the pilots of a dozen sleek journals and large movie studios howl at her door.

That the "topping off" ceremony staged by contractors and steel erectors at the finish of a skyscraper frame is quite impressive, involving the unfurling of American flags, the playing of bands high in the air and so on. The R-K-O building in Radio City recently was so christened, while the wind made spectators, 31 stories in the air, cling precariously to girders.

LATEST FROM WASHINGTON; BORAH HAS NEW NECKTIE; MORE ABOUT MURRAY

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—Notes from our nation's capital.... Hot news: Senator William Edgar Borah appeared on the Senate floor the other day wearing a bright red necktie. No one remembered any other time when he wasn't wearing his little black or blue bow.... Borah is a good dresser, but Mrs. Borah has to see that he "keeps pressed."

Norris of Nebraska almost invariably wears a bow tie. He hasn't yet borrowed Borah's red four-in-hand.... Did you hear the one an Anti-Saloon League friend pulled on Governor Alfalfa Bill Murray in introducing him to an audience? "Alfalfa Bill is so ugly that when he goes away on a trip his wife always goes with him so she won't have to kiss him goodbye.".... And the House passed a bill the other day to remove certain restrictions on land owned by two Crow Indians named Spottedhorse. The name of one was Benjamin Spottedhorse and the other's name was Horse Spottedhorse.

Washington is teeming with mean, untrue anecdotes about a very high personage who lives here. Latest: A hitch-hiker was boasting that he had hitch-hiked from coast to coast in 11 days. Asked how, he said: "I just wore a big sign on my back, inscribed: 'If you don't give me a lift I'll vote for you.'"

Business men continue alternately to berate the president and congress and beg favors from both. A story about Mayor Anton J. Cermak, who will welcome both political conventions to Chicago, may be more or less apropos of something or other. Many of the city's leading industrialists and merchants gathered with him at a very private banquet, worrying about affairs—which were plenty to worry about.

Someone made a crack about the need of business men in politics. Cermak said: "I know many of you fellows voted for me as the lesser of two evils. I know you're men who control your corporations, but you report to boards of directors

"The city council, elected by the people to take care of them, is my board of directors to which budget cutting and whatnot must be submitted. Where would a business man get without 30 years of political experience, forced to get 50 men from 50 wards to agree? He'd try to cut the payrolls in respective wards and wouldn't get to first base. He would require three years to get what it was all about and spend his last year wondering how it all happened and why everybody hated him."

Dr. William Gerry Morgan, former president of the American Medical association, told the Senate subcommittee holding hearings on wet legislation that one evil result of prohibition was that young women were carrying liquor "on the hip." Presumably because the doctor's work brings him in contact with so many hips, no one questioned the assertion.

Then there was the prize line of Walter S. Gifford, testifying before the LaFollette-Costigan subcommittee, that he had estimated total unemployment relief needs "for my own interest and amusement." Hitherto unpublished except in the printed record.

Up through the gravel in the back of the house, toadstools thrust themselves. The gravel was hard and formidable, the toadstools were soft but persistent.... Each year though annually defeated and destroyed, the toadstools perform this valiant feat. And though I do not like the slimy and poisonous toadstool, I admire whatever it is in the toadstool that compels him to do this thing.... He's a Bad Character, but you must respect him.... An engineer for an oil company told me about the process of refining gasoline. He told me how, in the early beginnings, the refineries threw away more gasoline than they were able to rescue.... But now they submit the oil to heavy pressure and "crack" it and waste hardly any at all.... A man should be able to do that to his own life. In his youth he wastes more than he uses; with increasing years his knack of enjoying life should increase. He should gain in power as his years multiply. But does he?

In every community there's a tall, gaunt house that people say is "haunted." The winds scream about it timid folk avoid it on stormy nights, and youngsters dare each other to explore it.... Debates Bolting Versus Chewing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"He bolts his food." The dreadful doom is passed and the supposition is that the poor victim is condemned to a life of dyspepsia and malnutrition.

To spread the gospel of mastication was the life work of a gentleman of the last generation Mr. Horace Fletcher. His book, "The A. Z. of Nutrition," was widely popular and went through several editions. His name ever achieved the distinction of becoming a verb—to fletcherize.

He ascribed his own good health to the habit of chewing his food so thoroughly that it was reduced to a pulpy mass. It should be chewed until it is impossible to resist the impulse to swallow it. He even advocated chewing soup. The results were, according to Mr. Fletcher, to preserve him in very ruddy health. He was delivered from an agonizing indigestion which marked his youth, when he bolted food. Constipation left him.

Most unfortunately for the establishment of his ideas, Mr. Fletcher died at a comparatively early age, 59. This is a disturbing habit of the advocates of health systems.

There is, of course, much truth in the dictum that food should be thoroughly chewed, but not enough to make it the keystone of a system.

The only digestion that is accomplished in the mouth is that of starches from the action of the salivary glands. The action is very rapid and powerful, as you know when you see how fast a piece of bread or cracker turns sweet in your mouth. If the saliva is thoroughly incorporated in the starchy foods digestion will go on some time in the stomach, although the acid of the stomach tends to stop salivary digestion.

The mashing and splitting of foods by the teeth is a distinct aid to digestion, of course. Meat fibers, if split up, will undergo much more rapid and thorough digestion in the stomach. Nuts, if they are to be digested at all, must be completely reduced to pulp by the teeth.

The only digestion that goes on in the stomach is the digestion of proteins, by the action of pepsin. Another preparatory digestive act is the curdling of milk by the stomach digestive juice, rennin.

"But the stomach is a marvelous preparatory organ for intestinal digestion. It churns and mixes the food with its powerful muscles. The whole tendency of gastric digestion," writes Rehfuss, "is to translate a mass of heterogeneous substances into a more or less homogeneous mass."

Thus the bolter of food has to depend upon his stomach, and probably the bolter's stomach has learned to do the work imposed on it so that his nutrition does not suffer as much for his sins as it should.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
MRS. J. A. C.: "Would you please write something on botulism poisoning in food? How can one detect it and does the food have a bad taste? Will boiling vegetables for fifteen minutes kill any poison should it be present in the vegetables?"

Answer: Botulism is poisoning caused by the growth of a germ in food, usually preserved or canned food. The symptoms are due to the poisons (toxins) which the germ has formed in the food rather than to the germ itself. Boiling the food for an hour will kill the poison but the germ is very resistant to all attempts at destruction. Special precautions are taken by all canners to prevent contamination of their products with botulism. The food which is contaminated is very difficult to detect by the senses, though there is a musty taste and smell which has been described.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendenning can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Train yourself to think that it is not the sporting things to give in. That only the weaklings give in. When they know a thing is wrong. Your mother who knows with whom you go and where, but I suppose you would resent her interference. So many young people do.

All you can do is to make some friends who are of a different type and show people that you are a sweet girl. It will take time, but it can be done and I hope you will do it. You can as easily make nice friends as undesirable ones.

Good luck to you. Write me again if you get discouraged.

MARY: My dear, your ideal probably doesn't exist out of your own mind, or a moving picture or a book. Aren't you thinking too much about your happiness? Happiness is not often found when it is sought. In reading your letter I am impressed with the feeling that you are a very lucky girl. Suppose you forget your "ideal" and think of your fiancé who is "ambitious, steady, companionable," etc. No one those same parents who do so care for you, health and reputation, will try to be a good, true, loyal wife to this young man. I truly think you have the greatest possible chance of happiness.

If you cannot do this, however, don't marry him. It would not be fair to him to let him marry a girl who could not give him her undivided love and loyalty.

Daintiness Is Essential
By GLADYS GLAD

A well-known screen star considers daintiness the most essential keynote to a woman's appearance. She says that if a woman is shabby in the smallest detail, she loses her self-confidence, and she's certainly correct about that.

There is one thing in particular that the woman who desires to appear dainty and well-groomed always must guard against, and that is under-arms and discolorations of perspiration on her frocks.

For such stains immediately destroy the immaculacy and daintiness of a woman's appearance.

Sometimes, when perspiration leaves a colored stain, it is due to what physicians call "chromidrosis." And in such cases, the excessive perspiration condition should be treated as outlined in my "New Figure" booklet, or by a physician.

But colored stains on frocks may also be due to the improper employment of liquid deodorants.

There is no reason why a good liquid deodorant should spoil dresses under the arms if it is correctly used. A deodorant is allowed to dry on the skin. Only by permitting the preparation to dry on the skin will the full benefits of it be received. But after it has dried, the wise thing to do is to lightly sponge the under-arm area with clear, slightly tepid water. Hot water should not be used for this purpose, as it might interfere with the effectiveness of the deodorant. But lukewarm water will not interfere to any great extent.

The reason why the type of deodorant to which I refer might stain garments is because when it dries it leaves minute crystals on the skin. These crystals easily absorb water from the air. Also, there is an perspiration, the crystals mix with it, dissolve, and upon coming into contact with garments stain them.

If, however, this type of deodorant is permitted to remain on the skin sufficiently long to do its work, and then the under-arms are sponged as I suggest, the possibility of the deodorant's being the cause of any stains will be eliminated.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

O give thanks unto the God of heaven: for his mercy endureth for ever.—Psalm cxxxvi, 26.

DOLE COSTLY

The British Government has spent on unemployment relief since 1924, a statement in the Commons on Wednesday showed, approximately $3,500,000,000. The "dole" comes high. This tremendous outlay was in addition to the cost of local relief schemes, which added their separate loads to the backs of the taxpayers. What the total is no one has computed; and in spite of it all, unemployment increased last month by 218,000 to a total of roughly 2,750,000.

When the Senate in Washington recently voted down a proposal to pave the way for a "dole" in this country it blocked such a financial fate for the American people. If Great Britain has spent $3,500,000,000 in eight years on a population one-third of that of the United States, what would the "dole" cost American taxpayers in a similar period of time?

There are other ways of meeting the unemployment problem, as various agencies now working in the United States will in due course prove. The way not to cure unemployment is to feed it from the National treasury. The way to cure it is bring the latent wealth of the country to the surface of industry and thus provide productive work for the jobless.

"BILL'S" CONTRIBUTION

Alfalfa Bill Murray's hat constitutes a picturesque contribution to the ring that is rapidly filling up with Democratic headgear. Gov. Murray formally announced his candidacy for the Presidential nomination of his party this year, at Collinsville, Tex., after having filed in North Dakota and sent an emissary into Georgia to spy out the land and discover its political fertility.

Among the inalienable rights of American citizens is that of aspiring to their Chief Magistracy. "General" Coxe, veteran of an historic march on Washington, which did not get him further than the White House lawn, also desires, if we are correctly informed, to enter into that exalted abode and reside there long enough to remold the country nearer to his conception of what it should be. Why not double up and run Coxe and Alfalfa Bill as a team?

William H. Murray is a hard-fighting, two-listed Governor, as befits the State for which William J. Bryan wrote the most radical constitution possessed by any subdivision of the American Union, a Commander-in-Chief of organized militia as ready to make war on Texas over boundary bridges as on "oil magnates," over the price of petroleum.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT

Living near Budapest, a woman poultry farmer has beaten the scientists with a successful experiment in producing eggs each containing .169 milligrams of iodine, which does not affect the taste of the egg. It is said the human system can assimilate iodine contained in an egg more easily than in any other form.

Poulterers in lake regions should find a ready market for "iodized eggs," if they could learn how to make their hens lay them. For Ohio is located in the "rotter belt" of the Great Lakes Basin and many natives suffer from imperfect functioning of the thyroid gland common to this region, due to iodine deficiency. Iodine in solution is prescribed for inactive thyroid. Dried kelp or seaweed high in iodine content is sold to the local markets. Iodized salt has been manufactured.

But it would be a simple and palatable matter if one could consume a daily ration of iodine with the breakfast egg.

MIGHT BE WORSE

As the American citizen savors his first mouthful of juicy steak at dinner-time, he should be aware that things might be a great deal worse with us. In Greece the Government has decreed three meatless days a week, along with other stabilizing measures, to maintain the drachma, Greek monetary unit. By restricting the consumption which would, if too great, require importation of meat, the drachma will be kept within the limits of the country. At present the exchange value of the drachma is $1.30, a fraction higher than at this time last year.

In the United States the buying power of the dollar is greater than it has been in years. There has been no occasion for Uncle Sam to step in and tell his children what they can buy or what they can eat, and when.

So we are reminded once more that every person with a job and a salary should consider it the highest patriotism to take advantage of the bargains at his door, always while living within his means. He should live normally and think hopefully, to help his Nation rid itself of the curious, unreasoning fear that is largely responsible for the present international paralysis. Life is still an adventure; and after all there are no pockets in a shroud.

Imagination Failing

That the "topping off" ceremony staged by contractors and steel erectors at the finish of a skyscraper frame is quite impressive, involving the unfurling of American flags, the playing of bands high in the air and so on. Everybody who can wrangle a pass ought to tour the movie studios in Astoria....A trip is full of interest, even for those who are familiar with coast western talkie making....A different atmosphere prevails here....More casual and good humored, it seems to me, if less fantastic....

The property room resembles a monster pawn shop....The huge collection of pistols there, including every known type, from Der-ringers to tear gas squirters, is checked over carefully by the New York police department and counted....If one were lost the outfit would find itself in a serious jam....And the no smoking rule is strictly enforced in the studio building....Violators have actually been fined $50 for a single cigarette....This is the result of the disastrous fire which swept the studio of another organization last year....

Few camera queens use grease-paint any more....Make-up has slowly diminished until now it consists principally of orange powder dusted on with a brush....New lights, new film, are responsible....Experts in the laboratories of the big movie concerns still experiment feverishly with direct-color photography, but none has found the commercially ideal method yet.

Washington is teeming with mean, untrue anecdotes about a very high personage who lives here. Latest: A hitch-hiker was boasting that he had hitch-hiked from coast to coast in 11 days. Asked how he did it, he just wore a big sign on his back, inscribed: "If you don't give me a lift I'll vote for —"

Business men continue alternately to berate the president and congress and beg favors from both. A story about Mayor Anton J. Cermak, who will welcome both political conventions to Chicago, may be more or less apropos of something or other. Many of the city's leading industrialists and merchants gathered with him at a very private banquet, worrying about affairs—which were plenty to worry about.

Someone made a crack about the need of business men in politics. Cermak said: "I know many of you fellows voted for me as the lesser of two evils. I know you're the kind who control your corporations, but you report to boards of directors

Now that the Cincinnati Reds are embarking upon their spring training activities, did you know that back in 1869 the Cincinnati Red Stockings, as they were then called, won eighty-one straight games and were not defeated in that year? How times have changed. Any more the Redlegs consider a season successful if they do not lose more than eighty-one games.

The Muesel brothers, Bob and "Irish," will be back in baseball again this season if their comeback plans materialize. "Irish" expects to land a job as coach with the N. Y. Giants, and Bob may play with Hollywood or Los Angeles, in the Pacific Coast League.

Rube Bressler, former Red, who was given his unconditional release by the Brooklyn Robins, doesn't think he is through as a big league ball player. He is sure he can give as good an account of himself as other players under contract.

Clyde Sukeforth, Cincinnati catcher, who was shot accidentally in the face while hunting last November, says his vision has not been impaired. He believes he will play as well as ever this season.

Praise for Xenia Central's high-spirited junior high basketball quintet, which won a five-county junior high cage tourney sponsored by Leesburg High School last week-end, came from Referee Emery, well known basketball official of Southern Ohio, who officiated the tourney games.

H. G. Patterson, coach of Central juniors, quoted Mr. Emery as describing the Xenia team as one of the smoothest junior teams he has seen in many a day. He added that Central's exposition of the five man, zone defense in the first half of the final round game with Leesburg was a particularly fine demonstration of this style of defense, and that it took a smart team to employ it successfully.

Nick Malavazos, star center for Xenia Juniors, who should develop into an all-round athlete for Central High varsity athletic teams in the next few years, made a big hit in the tourney, Pat says, because of the unobtrusive and otherwise quiet manner in which he conducted himself. Referee Emery couldn't pronounce Nick's last name and so he called him "Mike." Nick was acting captain for his team in the final contest, afterward receiving on behalf of Xenia Juniors a silver trophy presented by Dr. Srofe for Leesburg High School.

AIRMAN IN CHINESE SERVICE SHOT DOWN DURING PLANE RAID

Special flight to take a Boeing plane sold by them to the central government at Nanking last Friday.

The airplane form stated short had had no authority from them to make the fighting trip against the Japanese in which he was reported to have been killed.

Colonel Shen, local Chinese aviator chief, radioed Nanking for further details of the air combat at the request of Gale and Company, but they had received no reply late today.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23, 10:30 p. m.—Opposing Japanese and Chinese forces along the battle front from Chapei to Woosung reached a virtual stalemate late tonight, and comparative quiet returned after a brief artillery bombardment of the Chinese positions in Chapei.

The Japanese were believed planning merely to hold their present positions pending arrival of two full additional army divisions, which will virtually double their present forces here.

Sharp fighting occurred during the early hours of the day in the Kiangwan area, the Japanese sustaining sixty casualties, but no material gain for either side was reported.

Despite repeated attempts by the Japanese to dislodge them from their positions at Kiangwan, the Chinese still were holding their own there.

General Uyeda's field headquarters admitted that the Japanese army was stuck, and that their lines were no further advanced anywhere than they were at 3:00 p. m. yesterday.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The drive of the united action group for unemployment to put 1,000,000 unemployed in jobs received additional impetus today with the pledge from eighteen railroad presidents they would aid in the movement.

Since the organization undertook its campaign, 63,960 persons were given employment in various branches of industry.

The movement is sponsored by the American Legion, the American Federation of Labor, and the Association of National Advertisers.

CEDARVILLE OPENS WITH BEAVERCREEK FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Champs Also Booked For First Round; Ends Saturday

Drawings for the first round of competition in the eighteenth annual Greene County Class B scholastic basketball tournament at Osborn Friday and Saturday, were conducted Monday afternoon at a meeting of superintendents of the eight competing schools at the Court House.

Cedarville and Beaver Creek will have the honor of initiating the tournament play, clashing in the first game on the program Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Ross Twp., defending the title it has won two years straight, will encounter Spring Valley at 3 o'clock.

The evening program Friday will be launched at 7:30 o'clock with a game between Jamestown and Bryan High of Yellow Springs, and at 8:30 o'clock Bellbrook and Jefferson Twp. will battle for survival.

In the upper bracket, winners of the Cedarville-Bellbrook and the Spring Valley-Ross contests, will meet in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The other semi-final engagement at 3 o'clock will bring together the winners of the Jamestown-Bryan and the Jefferson-Bellbrook games.

Three games will comprise the program Saturday night. The first contest, starting at 7 o'clock, will be an exhibition affair between the unbeaten Osborn Bath girls' team and an all-star feminine sextet selected from the other eight county schools. At 8 o'clock there will be a consolation game between the two tourney quintets eliminated in the semi-finals, and at 9 o'clock the two teams which survived the semi-finals will play for the county title.

Regardless of which quintet wins the tournament championship, both teams reaching the final round will represent Greene County in the regional Class B state tourney competition at Wilmington, March 4 and 5.

The fourth annual free throw contest will be held in conjunction with the county tournament, and the foul shooting will be sandwiched in between the tourney games.

Although Cedarville and Ross Twp. cagers are favored to win more or less decisively over Beaver Creek and Spring Valley, respectively, in the afternoon games Friday, two spirited contests are in prospect for Friday evening.

Bryan High should experience great difficulty against Jamestown, while the Jefferson-Bellbrook contest will bring together two strong teams almost evenly matched in the headliner game of the first round of play.

DALTON ENDS DRIVE THIRD IN SCORING; CAMPBELL IS FIRST

Piqua Center Takes Second Place In Xenia Game

Boosting his own total to thirty-nine by virtue of sixteen points scored against Xenia Friday night, Carder, star Piqua center, graduated to second place in the rivalry for individual scoring honors in the Miami Valley League, and now looms as a formidable rival to John Campbell, clever Troy guard.

Campbell is leading the Piqua pivot man by the margin of one point. Inasmuch as Troy was idle Friday night, Campbell's point total remained stationary at forty.

The battle for high point honors in the league has apparently narrowed down to these two players, and the victor will be decided Friday night this week when Troy and Piqua clash in their last league contest on the Piqua floor.

Faber, elongated Sidney center, and Freddie Dalton, Xenia forward, are tied for third place, each with thirty-eight points, and they will wind up that way because Xenia and Sidney have finished their league schedule. Dalton, who previously was in second place, tallied seven points against Piqua and Faber gathered sixteen against Dayton Fairview. Here is a list of the thirteen high scorers in the league:

ROSS HIGH TEAMS FINISH FIRST IN BOTH DIVISIONS OF LEAGUE

Beaver Creek's strong girls' team ended in second place, winning seven games, losing four and tying one.

All the county schools have wound up their pre-tournament campaigns. Osborn Bath, which does not compete in the tourney, has another game to play, however, clashing with Dayton Stivers reserves in a return contest at Osborn Thursday night. Here are the final county court standings:

CENTRAL TOSSERS, LONG CHAMPS, RATE FOURTH PLACE NOW

Buccaneers Are Also Best Offensive Team In League

Victorious in their concluding Miami Valley League engagements Friday night, Sidney whipped Fairview, 25 to 13, to clinch at least a tie for second place in the league standing, while Xenia Central, ex-champion, took possession of fourth place by routing Piqua, 41 to 33.

The league schedule will be completed Friday night this week with the possibility of three schools winding up in a three-way tie for third position. This is possible but not probable.

With two contests down for decisions, Miamisburg is expected to tie for second position by defeating Fairview at Dayton. Troy plays at Piqua and the winner will end up in a tie with Xenia. Should Fairview, which has lost all five of its games, register a surprise triumph over the Burgers, there would be a three-cornered standing between Xenia, Miamisburg and either Piqua or Troy.

Xenia has now replaced Piqua as the best offensive quintet in the league with an average of 23.3 points for its six games. Piqua is next with an average of 23.2, followed by Greenville with 19.4. Miamisburg with 19.2, Sidney with 18.5, Troy with 18.3 and Fairview with 14.4.

Piqua is charged with the poorest defensive average of 25.2 points per game, but Xenia is a close second with its 24.4 mark, followed by Fairview with 22.2, Troy with 19.3, Miamisburg with 19, Greenville with 15.5 and Sidney having the best average of 14.5.

Here is the league standing with points scored by and against each team:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	P.	O.P.
Greenville	5	1	.833	118	95
Sidney	4	2	.667	113	89
Miamisburg	3	2	.600	97	97
Xenia	5	5	.500	141	148
Troy	2	3	.400	93	98
Piqua	2	3	.400	117	127
Fairview	0	5	.000	74	112

The score was 1 to 4 at halftime. Brickell, forward, tallied eleven points for the juniors. Action contributed exactly half of the sophomores points. Lineups:

ANOTHER huge reception was held in New York for John L. on March 27. Here, before all his friends, John L. announced that never again would he fight with bareknuckles. His fights from now on must be legal glove affairs. His first title defense came on April 20. He knocked out John McDermott in three rounds in Rochester, N. Y. Can Jack Come Back? Fight Photo Says "No!"

By Central Press

FIGHT FANS, here's an answer to the question: "Is Jack Dempsey through?"

Here's an answer, a photograph and camera make no mistakes! This picture—snapped near the end of the fourth and last round of the King Levinsky-Jack Dempsey fight in Chicago—shows the old ex-champion as you have never seen him before.

Here's Dempsey—eyes staring, mouth agape, head drooping—a weary, panting fighter. Jack looks pretty weak, after fighting 10 minutes.

Dempsey is shown blocking Levinsky's right and the champion who once cut fists giants to ribbons seem to be having a desperate time avoiding that blow. Friends said Jack was weakened by loss of five pounds—result of a cold.

Jack says he would like to meet Levinsky in a ten-round bout with six-ounce gloves instead of the "pill" worn in the Chicago fight.

Now that the Cincinnati Reds are embarking upon their spring training activities, did you know that back in 1889 the Cincinnati Red Stockings, as they were then called, won eighty-one straight games and were not defeated in that year? How times have changed. Any more the Redlegs consider a season successful if they do not lose more than eighty-one games.

The Meusel brothers, Bob and "Irish," will be back in baseball again this season if their comeback plans materialize. "Irish" expects to land a job as coach with the N. Y. Giants, and Bob may play with Hollywood or Los Angeles, in the Pacific Coast League.

Rube Bressler, former Red, who was given his unconditional release by the Brooklyn Robins, doesn't think he is through as a big league ball player. He is sure he can give as good an account of himself as other players under contract.

Clyde Sukeforth, Cincinnati catcher, who was shot accidentally in the face while hunting last November, says his vision has not been impaired. He believes he will play as well as ever this season.

Praise for Xenia Central's high-jumped junior high basketball quintet, which won a five-county junior high cage tourney sponsored by Leesburg High School last week-end, came from Referee Emery, well known basketball official of Southern Ohio, who officiated the tourney games.

H. G. Patterson, coach of Central juniors, quoted Mr. Emery as describing the Xenia team as one of the smoothest junior teams he has seen in many a day. He added that Central's exhibition of the five-man, zone defense in the first half of the final round game with Leesburg was a particularly fine demonstration of this style of defense, and that it took a smart team to employ it successfully.

Nick Malavazos, star center for Xenia Juniors, who should develop into an all-round athlete for Central High varsity athletic teams in the next few years, made a big hit in the tourney. Pat says, because of the unobtrusive and otherwise quiet manner in which he conducted himself. Referee Emery couldn't pronounce Nick's last name and so he called him "Mike." Nick was acting captain for his team in the final contest, afterward receiving on behalf of Xenia Juniors a silver trophy presented by Dr. Srofo for Leesburg High School.

special flight to take a Boeing plane sold by them to the central government at Nanking last Friday.

The airplane, form stated short had had no authority from them to make the fighting trip against the Japanese in which he was reported to have been killed.

Colonel Shen, local Chinese aviator chief, radioed Nanking for further details of the air combat at the request of Gale and Company, but they had received no reply late today.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23, 10:30 p. m.—Opposing Japanese and Chinese forces along the battle front from Chapel to Woosung reached a virtual stalemate late tonight, and comparative quiet returned after a brief artillery bombardment of the Chinese positions in Chapel.

The Japanese were believed planning merely to hold their present positions pending arrival of two full additional army divisions, which will virtually double their present forces here.

Sharp fighting occurred during the early hours of the day in the Kiangwan area, the Japanese sustaining sixty casualties, but no material gain for either side was reported.

General Uyeda's field headquarters admitted that the Japanese army was stuck, and that their lines were no further advanced anywhere than they were at 3:00 p. m. yesterday.

Since the organization undertook its campaign, 63,950 persons were given employment in various branches of industry.

CEDARVILLE OPENS WITH BEAVERCREEK FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Champs Also Booked For First Round; Ends Saturday

Drawings for the first round of competition in the eighteenth annual Greene County Class B scholastic basketball tournament at Osborn Friday and Saturday, were conducted Monday afternoon at a meeting of superintendents of the eight competing schools at the Court House.

Cedarville and Beaver Creek will have the honor of initiating the tournament play, clashing in the first game on the program Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Ross Twp., defending the title, has won two years straight, will encounter Spring Valley at 3 o'clock.

The evening program Friday will be launched at 7:30 o'clock with a game between Jamestown and Bryan High of Yellow Springs, and at 8:30 o'clock Bellbrook and Jefferson Twp. will battle for survival.

In the upper bracket, winners of the Cedarville-Beaver Creek and Spring Valley-Ross contests, will meet in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The other semi-final engagement at 3 o'clock will bring together the winners of the Jamestown-Bryan and the Jefferson-Bellbrook games.

Three games will comprise the program Saturday night. The first contest, starting at 7 o'clock, will be an exhibition affair between the unbeaten Osborn Bath girls' team and an all-star feminine sextet selected from the other eight county schools. At 8 o'clock there will be a consolation game between the two tourney quintets eliminated in the semi-finals, and at 9 o'clock the two teams which survived the semi-finals will play for the county title.

Regardless of which quintet wins the tournament championship, both teams reaching the final round will represent Greene County in the regional Class B state tourney competition at Wilmington, March 4 and 5.

The fourth annual free throw contest will be held in conjunction with the county tournament, and the foul shooting will be sandwiched in between the tourney games.

Although Cedarville and Ross Twp. cagers are favored to win more or less decisively over Beaver Creek and Spring Valley, respectively, in the afternoon games Friday, two spirited contests are in prospect for Friday evening. Bryan High showed experience in the next few years, made a big hit in the tourney. Pat says, because of the unobtrusive and otherwise quiet manner in which he conducted himself. Referee Emery couldn't pronounce Nick's last name and so he called him "Mike." Nick was acting captain for his team in the final contest, afterward receiving on behalf of Xenia Juniors a silver trophy presented by Dr. Srofo for Leesburg High School.

DALTON ENDS DRIVE THIRD IN SCORING; CAMPBELL IS FIRST

Piqua Center Takes Second Place In Xenia Game

Boosting his own total to thirty-nine by virtue of sixteen points scored against Xenia Friday night, Carder, star Piqua center, graduated to second place in the rivalry for individual scoring honors in the Miami Valley League, and now looms as a formidable rival to John Campbell, clever Troy guard.

Campbell is leading the Piqua pivot man by the margin of one point. Inasmuch as Troy was idle Friday night, Campbell's point total remained stationary at forty.

The battle for high point honors in the league has apparently narrowed down to these two players, and the victor will be decided Friday night this week when Troy and Piqua clash in their last league contest on the Piqua floor.

Faber, elongated Sidney center, and Freddie Dalton, Xenia forward, are tied for third place, each with thirty-eight points, and they will wind up that way because Xenia and Sidney have finished their league schedule. Dalton, who previously was in second place, tallied seven points against Piqua and Faber gathered sixteen against Troy Fairview. Here is a list of the thirteen high scorers in the league:

Player	G.	F.	P.
Campbell (T)	14	12	40

ROSS HIGH TEAMS FINISH FIRST IN BOTH DIVISIONS OF LEAGUE

Ross Twp. High boys' basketball quintet and the same school's feminine team finished first in their respective divisions of the Greene County Class B cage races, the season's rivalry being finished with games staged last Friday night.

Ross boys were unbeaten in eleven games, while Bellbrook was runner-up with seven games won and two lost. Ross girls won nine games and lost two, both of the defeats being inflicted by Cedarville girls, who slumped toward the end of their schedule and wound up with a record of three victories and as many defeats.

CENTRAL TOSSERS, LONG CHAMPS, RATE FOURTH PLACE NOW

Buccaneers Are Also Best Offensive Team In League

Victorious in their concluding Miami Valley League engagements Friday night, Sidney whipped Fairview, 25 to 13, to clinch at least a tie for second place in the league standing, while Xenia Central, ex-champion, took possession of fourth place by routing Piqua, 41 to 33.

The league schedule will be completed Friday night this week with the possibility of three schools winding up in a three-way tie for third position. This is possible but not probable.

With two contests down for decisions, Miamiburg is expected to tie for second position by defeating Fairview at Dayton. Troy plays at Piqua and the winner will end up in a tie with Xenia. Should Fairview, which has lost all five of its games, register a surprise triumph over the Burgers, there would be a three-cornered standing between Xenia, Miamiburg and either Piqua or Troy.

Xenia has now replaced Piqua as the best offensive quintet in the league with an average of 23.3 points for its six games. Piqua is next with an average of 23.2, followed by Greenville with 19.4. Miamiburg with 19.2, Sidney with 18.5, Troy with 18.3 and Fairview with 14.4.

Piqua is charged with the poorest defensive average of 25.2 points per game, but Xenia is a close second with its 24.4 mark, followed by Fairview with 22.2, Troy with 19.3, Miamiburg with 19, Greenville with 15.5 and Sidney having the best average of 14.5.

Here is the league standing with points scored by and against each team:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	P.	O.P.
Greenville	5	1	.833	118	95
Sidney	2	4	.667	113	89
Miamiburg	3	2	.600	97	95
Xenia	5	1	.833	141	148
Troy	2	3	.400	93	98
Piqua	2	3	.400	117	127
Fairview	0	5	.000	74	112

SUSPECT KILLED BY RAILWAY OFFICER

CINCINNATI, Feb. 23.—An unidentified suspected coal thief was shot and killed today in a furious gun battle with George Carson, "two-gun" railroad detective.

Carson received a serious chest wound in the affray which took place in the B. & O. coal yards.

Two companions of the suspected thief, who also participated in the battle, escaped.

Carson was shot with one of his own pistols. The weapon was found clutched in the hand of the slain man.

Although Carson was unable to describe the battle, police believe that the detective was attacked by the three men and robbed of one of his revolvers. They were apparently unaware that Carson had another pistol.

KENNEDY I. G. A. MARKET WILL BE OFFICIALLY OPENED TUESDAY

Formal opening of the Kennedy I. G. A. Market, by W. J. Kennedy, at 45 W. Main St., in a room formerly occupied by the Anderson Grocery, will be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. As a feature of opening night, baskets of groceries and samples will be given away, Mr. Kennedy announces.

The room occupied by the food market has been remodeled extensively and has been enlarged to more than twice its original length. The room has been redecorated and a color scheme of black and white has been carried out in the refinishing of the walls and in the lighting fixtures. A new lighting system and a new electrical refrigeration system have been installed and an attractive new front has been added to the building.

In addition to a complete line of groceries, fresh fruits and vegetables Mr. Kennedy will specialize in all kinds of sea foods, he announces. A meat department will be a feature of the new market and this will be in charge of Fred Lynd, of Cincinnati. A delicatessen will also be a feature of the new store.

Installation of the new lighting fixtures was done by the Eichman Electric Shop while Roy E. Ary was in charge of the sheet metal work on the interior walls. The Xenia Paint and Glass Co. installed the new front of the building and W. O. Jeffries and Son had the general contracting work. The electrical refrigeration system was installed by Nelson Barnes and Don Finlay, local agents for the Copeland Refrigerator and the McDowell and Torrence Lumber Co. furnished the lumber and shelving. The signs in the new store were painted by Archer Maxwell.

Smith's Bakery will supply bread while Wolf's Dairy will supply milk, cream and cottage cheese.

Mr. Kennedy has been in business in Xenia many years and recently has conducted a shoe store at 39 W. Main St. He will continue to operate this store and will divide his time between his two businesses, he points out.

APPEAL OF BEAVER INJUNCTION CASE POSTPONED AGAIN

Appeal of The W. H. Howard Construction Co., Columbus, in litigation involving the partly completed centralized school building in Beavercreek Twp. scheduled to be heard by the second district Court of Appeals, in session at Columbus, Tuesday, was again postponed.

The latest continuance was due to the death Monday of a brother of Attorney Herbert Mills, Dayton, chief of the defense counsel. It is expected the appellate court will assign another date for a hearing of the arguments of attorneys in the case.

The Columbus contractor is appealing from a decision of Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy who, ruling on a taxpayer's injunction suit, ordered the construction firm to discontinue erection of the school building in a manner contrary to the plans and specifications.

STRESS WASHINGTON'S HOME LIFE IN BI-CENTENNIAL

Capital Expects More Than 6,000,000 Visitors This Year To Honor First President In Remarkable Observance Of Two Hundredth Birthday

Edward Savage's painting of the Washington Family.

Christ church, Alexandria, where Washington was a vestryman and maintained a pew.

Alonzo Chappel's family group

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—"Here are the Washingtons," said Director Sol Bloom of the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission, "quietly celebrating the birthday of the father of our country in their Mount Vernon home."

Director Bloom held up for inspection a reproduction of Edward Savage's painting of the Washington family group—the general, his wife, Martha, and the Custis children, with Billy Lee, the general's valet, in the background.

"To be quite literal," he admitted, "I don't suppose it was intended specifically for a birthday scene, but that's how the family looked, on birthdays as well as other occasions, and for present purposes, I like to think of this as a birthday gathering."

"Alonzo Chappel's family group," continued Congressman Bloom, "represents the nineteenth New York district at the capitol, in addition to his Washington bicentennial duties, 'doubtless is more artistic, and I am bound to own that it does more justice to Lady Washington.'"

"As to the general, however, I prefer the strong masculinity of the Savage portrayal."

"The Chappel Washington might be a small man, for all the picture indicates. Savage painted him as we know him to have been—very tall, big boned and powerful. He lived much in the saddle—and here he is just dismounted, still in boots and spurs, a martial figure, resting awhile and acknowledging the home folks' congratulations on say, his fiftieth anniversary or thereabouts."

"I emphasize the detail of the first President's home surroundings," said the congressman, "for the reason that every effort has been directed toward making a great home event of this bicentennial Washington celebration."

"There never has been a celebration quite like it."

"The commission's aim has been to extend it into every American household."

"The city which bears his name is, indeed in a strict sense, its founder's great national monument. The paper shown on the table in Savage's painting is its plan. There could not be a more appropriate time than the next few months of the bicentennial year for all who can to visit it."

"Nevertheless, broadly speaking, the whole United States is a monument to George Washington, and our purpose has been to make all of its people Washington-minded."

"It is not, in short, an anniversary," explained Director Bloom, "to be thought of as possible to celebrate only by a concentration of many folk at some particular point."

"Gatherings and programs in Washington's honor, and pilgrimages to his shrine will follow the land feels, day by day, in the present bicentennial twelve-month, a strong consciousness of his memory."

"Since it is a celebration essentially beginning in the home, the more fully we realize Washington's own home life, the better we shall understand the general himself and the more completely we shall enter into the sentiment of his bicentennial memorial year."

The Capital's observance of the bicentenary, which began with a dress by President Hoover before a joint session of congress, ceremonies before the capitol building and at the foot of the Washington monument, and a grand colonial ball in an eighteenth century setting, will continue through the summer and early autumn, concluding with a Halloween carnival parade and open-air dancing October 31.

Local estimates place the number of expected visitors at 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 between February 22 and the closing date of the scheduled series of events.

"But the real test of success," says Director Bloom, "is the degree of the nation's Washington-mindedness in the home."

REVIVAL OPENS AT ZION

Zion Baptist Church opened a revival campaign Monday night with indications pointing to a successful meeting. The devotional services were conducted by Deacon Harris ably assisted by the choir and prayer meeting leaders.

The pastor, Rev. M. M. D. Perdue, is the evangelist. The subjects of his discourses are taken from the titles of current popular songs. He spoke from the subject "Traveling." The preacher characterized this age as "Jazz maddened and fun crazed rushing past the staid realities of life seeking a thrill." He said "The chief ambition of the average person is to be a clown. Nothing is beautiful or sacred to the average person. Everything even life itself is grotesque, ridiculous, chimerical. The iconoclast, the debunker and the pseudo apostle of truth is abroad in the land," he said.

The music of our age instead of lifting man Godward serves only as a barbaric influence to loosen the pent up inhibitions of ages of restraint and civilization making a man wanting to be a monkey or a savage stamping his feet and twisting his body." Men were urged not to travel life alone but with God who will assure them a happy landing.

The subject for Tuesday evening is "River Stay Way From My Door."

Mr. William Gates of Chicago accompanied the remains of his son, Lester, who passed away in that city last week, to this city. The remains were interred in Cherry Grove Cemetery Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Gates are well known here. While here Mr. Gates was the guest of his sister-in-law Mrs. Ida Slides of S. Columbus St.

HONOR WASHINGTON THE MASON

CHAPTER 56
THE NEXT two evenings they dined in town and went to the theater. Having had a season of Broadway premieres and offerings that had retained popularity through hundreds of consecutive performances, Marcia was little impressed with the bills at the Dixie and the Colonial theaters, but the best part of the evening was being with Dana. He interpreted everything for her with a new understanding so that she looked and listened with the eye and ear of the artist. He approved and criticized.

"She's a peach of a dancer, but her clothes aren't right," he would say, or, "If they had a cubistic drop effect for that act, it would be improved one hundred per cent. The chorus girls have too many clothes. I'll bet they added several extra yards when they left New York." Marcia agreed that they must have. She had been astonished at the scanty attire of Broadway's chorus girls.

Dana was more interested in the stage than she had expected him to be. She had guessed that attending the theater was merely a reason for being with her and that he would give little attention to the performance. But he surprised her by being alert to everything, and only attentively courteous to her. She liked him the more for it, and found intimacy of the dimly lighted audience of which they were a part and yet apart, delightful. The way he turned to her for explanations and confirmations of his remarks thrilled her as nothing else she had experienced. Being unusually handsome, he was somewhat vain, as handsome men so often are. But he was not supercilious.

On the second evening he had said, "I could collect a party for you, but I'm not ready to share you with anyone yet. I'm not a very gregarious animal, anyway. I enjoy one good companion much more than a crowd. Do you mind?"

"I much prefer it. I think I'm pretty much like that, too." He pressed her hand affectionately. He was continually making such little gestures of approach, while Marcia held her breath, figuratively speaking, and awaited more demonstrative overtures. He had such an easy, casual habit of slipping his arm about her as they entered a door or he put her into his car, of holding her shoulders for a moment when he assisted her with her cloak, of pressing her hands together in his when he greeted her, of inclining his head solicitously when she spoke to him, and other little intimate manners and glances. All these were so fleeting and so natural a part of him that she could not have resented them had she wished. Furthermore, she did not wish to.

Regarding a party, he was saying, "Not that the crowd wouldn't like to meet you. I've had a dozen fellows ask me today for an introduction, and several of the girls called me up this morning to ask who you were. That means one night with you. I see Frank Hutton over there, now, staring at you. The fact is, I'm jealous. If I introduce you to anyone else, I might not have a chance." His deep gray eyes searched her face for denial.

Marcia flushed and laughed lightly. "You have the advantage of a start, anyway."

"Have I—Marcia?" His voice was low and his lips close to her ear, and those in the surrounding seats watched them closely.

Marcia replied, "Well, haven't you? You are the only person I've seen for two evenings, now, and I shall be here for only three more."

"Impossible! Get your company to keep you here for a month, can't you? The business justifies it, sure."

"Oh, I'm training Kitty to carry on for me when I'm gone." Kitty can't take your place with me. What about me?"

"You are not my responsibility," she laughed softly.

"Oh, no? We shall see about that," he promised. Then the curtain rose on the last act and their attention returned to the stage.

Marcia was sincere when she had declared her preference for

High Fliers

These young Austrians, Count Theodor Zichy (left) and Hans Braun, are planning to attempt an altitude flight that will pierce the stratospheric region, believed to lie beyond the earth's atmosphere, in the fair cause of science. Zichy and Braun hope to attain an altitude of 65,000 feet when they make their attempt in March.

CLAM DIGGERS EARLY
HOQUIAM, Wash. — The vanguard of clam diggers, who annually storm the Grays Harbor beaches, have moved into the beach shacks weeks in advance of the opening of the commercial season March 1. The tattered army is depending chiefly on the clams they dig each day as their chief food until they can begin to work for the canneries.

EAST END NEWS

REVIVAL OPENS AT ZION
Zion Baptist Church opened a revival campaign Monday night with indications pointing to a successful meeting. The devotional services were conducted by Deacon Harris ably assisted by the choir and prayer meeting leaders.

The pastor, Rev. M. M. D. Perdue, is the evangelist. The subjects of his discourses are taken from the titles of current popular songs. He spoke from the subject "Traveling." The preacher characterized this age as "jazz maddened and fun crazed rushing past the staid realities of life seeking a thrill." He said "The chief ambition of the average person is to be a clown. Nothing is beautiful or sacred to the average person. Everything even life itself is grotesque, ridiculous, chimerical. The iconoclast, the debunker and the pseudo apostle of truth is abroad in the land," he said.

The subject of our age instead of lifting man God-ward serves only as a barbaric influence to loosen the pent up inhibitions of ages of restraint and civilization making a man wanting to be a monkey or a savage stamping his feet and twisting his body. Men were urged not to travel life alone but with God who will assure them a happy landing.

The subject for Tuesday evening is "River Stay Way From My Door."

Mr. William Gates of Chicago accompanied the remains of his son, Lester, who passed away in that city last week, to this city. The remains were interred in Cherry Grove Cemetery Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Gates are well known here. While here Mr. Gates was the guest of his sister-in-law Mrs. Ida Sides of S. Columbus St.

Deputies from the auditor's office will be at the town hall on February 26 for the purpose of assisting property owners in making their returns.

J. W. Anthony met with a mishap near Spring Valley on Thursday evening when his auto turned turtle.

The village council has supplied the mayor's office with a new rug.

Dr. Stout, of Beaver Creek, was a visitor in the village one day of the past week.

Deputy Sheriff Walton Spahr was in town on official business Wednesday.

Attorney George Smith of Spring Valley, was here on legal business last Tuesday.

It is reported that Frank Williams has purchased the Cramer Crowl property on N. Main St.

James Crowl's sale amounted to $638.

A number of cases of influenza are reported in the neighborhood.

James Turner of Springfield, was a visitor with his father and sister, J. S. Turner and Mrs. Grace Ritenour this week.

Broadway Cleans House Consider Church Mouse

Can it be that that slovenly housewife, the Broadway stage, is at last sweeping out the premises? It would appear so from the fact that there are only twenty-two plays on "Hooley Hollow" now, a healthy condition compared with the overproduction of 1928's boom days.

From 1925 to 1928 the stage ran riot. Emboldened by the golden success of "Green Hat", "Broadway", "Cradle Snatchers" and others, any producer with half a shoestring and a fair play would present it and wait for the money to roll in. What he always got was grief.

It's different now. There is not even a synthetic market for un-than rounded accomplishment. "If Booth Had Missed", which conjectures what might of happened if Fannie Hurst's "Symphony of Six Million". The music runs subdued through the entire film with recurring theme for various characterizations. Miss Hurst suggested the idea herself. A thirty-six piece orchestra was used.

Twenty Years '12- Ago -'32

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer St. John left for Tampa, Fla., to make their future home. Mr. St. John has bought a tract of land there and plans to go into the fruit growing business. Mr. Harvey Coates, Xenia barber, plans to build a home on the Springfield Pike, where he owns a nice lot opposite Elmer Kelly's land. The Bocklet Plumbing Co. and the J. D. King Machine Co., two successful concerns on W. Main St., have been consolidated and incorporated under the name of the Bocklet King Co.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Ruth Gordon in "A Church Mouse"; Katherine Cornell in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street"; Francine Larrimore in "Brief Moment"; Paul Muni in "Counselor-at-law"; Pauline Lord in "Distant Drums"; Constance Collier in "Hay Fever"; Alice Brady in "Mourning Becomes Electra"; Leslie Howard in "The Animal Kingdom"; the Lunts in "Reunion in Vienna"; Nigel Bruce in "Springtime for Henry"; Helen Hayes in "The Good Fairy"; Arthur Byron in "The Devil Passes"; Ernest Truex in "Whistling in the Dark" and Henry Hull in "The Bride and Sun Shines On" ought to throb even the most hardened arteries.

There are no classics in the list, but the playwrights are a good lot—Lorraine Hansberry, gay, earnest, crafty, vehement, urbane. Eugene O'Neill, Noel Coward, Philip Barry, Robert Sherwood, Elmer Rice, H. M. Warner, Benn W. Levy, S. N. Behrman, Rudolph Besier and Dan Totheroh. Of the twenty-two plays, twelve are American; six, English and three, Hungarian. Maurice Chevalier's is the only voice raised for France. There is not a single German, Italian or Scandinavian play and nothing from China or Japan except in the native tongues.

Of the strictly new plays, there are some of incidental merit rather

STATE REPORTS 28 ACCIDENT CLAIMS

Twenty-eight industrial accident claims, aggregating a time loss of 388 days to workers of Greene County, were filed with the state industrial commission in January, according to a report of Supt. Thomas P. Kearns, of the division of safety and hygiene.

None of the local accidents was fatal or resulted in permanent partial disability, but seven caused a time loss of more than seven days to workers, and three caused seven days or less lost time. Eighteen claims arose from medical cases causing no time loss, the report disclosed.

Broadway Cleans House Consider Church Mouse

Can it be that that slovenly housewife, the Broadway stage, is at last sweeping out the premises? It would appear so from the fact that there are only twenty-two plays on "Hooley Hollow" now, a healthy condition compared with the overproduction of 1928's boom days.

From 1925 to 1928 the stage ran than rounded accomplishment. "If Booth Had Missed", which conjoins success of "Green Hat", "Broadway", "Cradle Snatchers" and others, any producer with half a shoestring and a fair play would present it and wait for the money to roll in. What he always got was grief.

It's different now. There is not even a synthetic market for un-

What BKO claims to be the longest sustained symphony ever composed will supply a musical background for the talkie version of Fannie Hurst's "Symphony of Six Million". The music runs subdued through the entire film with recurring theme for various characterizations. Miss Hurst suggested the idea herself. A thirty-six piece orchestra was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer St. John left for Tampa, Fla., to make their future home. Mr. St. John has bought a tract of land there and plans to go into the fruit growing business.

Mr. Harvey Conates, Xenia barber, plans to build a home on the Springfield Pike, where he owns a nice lot opposite Elmer Kelly's land.

mitigated trash. And while casting directors complain that Hollywood took the cream of the actors, there are, currently, a dozen performances or so that look suspiciously like Grade-A stuff.

Ruth Gordon in "A Church Mouse"; Katherine Cornell in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street"; Francine Larrimore in "Brief Moment"; Paul Muni in "Counsellor-at-law"; Pauline Lord in "Distant Drums"; Constance Collier in "Hay Fever"; Alice Brady in "Mourning Becomes Electra"; Leslie Howard in "The Animal Kingdom"; the Lunts in "Reunion in Vienna"; Nigel Bruce in "Springtime for Henry"; Helen Hayes in "The Good Fairy"; Arthur Byron in "The Devil Passes"; Ernest Truex in "Whistling in the Dark"; and Henry Hull in "The Bride and Sun Shines On" ought to throb even the most hardened arteries.

There are no classics in the list, but the playwrights are a good lot—literary, say, earnest, crafty, vehement, urbane: Eugene O'Neill, Noel Coward, Philip Barry, Robert Sherwood, Elmer Rice, H. M. Harwood, Benn W. Levy, S. N. Behrman, Rudolph Besier and Dan Totheroh. Of the twenty-two plays, twelve are American; six, English and three, Hungarian. Maurice Chevalier's is the only voice raised for France. There is not a single German, Italian or Scandinavian play and nothing from China or Japan except in the native tongues.

Of the strictly new plays, there are some of incidental merit rather

STATE REPORTS 28 ACCIDENT CLAIMS

Twenty-eight industrial accident claims, aggregating a time loss of 288 days to workers of Greene County, were filed with the state industrial commission in January, according to a report of Supt. Thomas P. Kearns, of the division of safety and hygiene.

None of the local accidents was fatal or resulted in permanent partial disability, but seven caused a time loss of more than seven days to workers, and three caused seven days or less lost time. Eighteen claims arose from medical cases causing no time loss, the report disclosed.

BUREAU LISTS 300 SEEKING JOBS HERE WHILE FEW PLACED

Names of more than 300 jobless men of Xenia and Greene County are now enrolled on the waiting list at the free unemployment bureau recently established in this city by the Xenia Retail Merchants' Association with the cooperation of other interested agencies.

Since its creation two weeks ago, the bureau, acting as a central clearing house, has been the medium through which work has been furnished occasionally to a limited number of the unemployed.

As temporary jobs turn up, the bureau attempts, insofar as it is possible, to assign work to the unemployed in the order in which the names are registered.

Mrs. H. R. Wirthlin, in charge of the bureau, reveals that only 217 of the total number on the waiting list have procured numbers, indicating the order in which applications for work will receive attention. Those individuals who have neglected to obtain their numbers are urged to do so at once.

HOME FLU EPIDEMIC CASES DECLINING

With gradual abatement of the number of cases under hospitalization at the O. S. and S. O. Home, where an epidemic of influenza is now in its fourth week, Dr. A. C. Messenger, resident physician, believes the epidemic is on the wane.

The hospital proper is still crowded, however, although one section containing about twenty beds in the five-room surgical ward have been removed, easing the congestion to some extent.

The latest survey made Tuesday morning indicated that between 100 and 125 patients are still under care, whereas at one time the number totalled nearly 200.

Dr. Messenger declared that eight new cases developed Monday and that the condition of four pneumonia victims is still serious.

WASHBOARD VS. JUG BAND HERE TUESDAY

A band contest between Detrick's jug band, the Washboard Entertainers and the Buckeye Six will be held at the Opera House Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. In addition to the program by the three bands there will be Hawaiian music, and old-fashioned fiddling and dancing.

The jug band which is featured on the program is composed of local talent and broadcasts over station WSMK, Dayton, every Saturday noon. The Opera House doors will open at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

LEONARD COVAULT LAUNCHES BUSINESS

The business will be located in property owned by Elton Smith and the room has been remodeled and redecorated and will be furnished suitably so that funeral services may be held from the establishment, Mr. Covault announces.

MAN'S THOUGHTS REALLY FAST

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—Just how fast is "fast under the hat" is being demonstrated by scientists at the University of Southern California with a new all-electric machine for measuring the speed of thought.

The average speed, it was found is five thoughts to the second.

The device was invented by Dr. Milton Welfessel, professor of Psychology at the University. He calls it the reaction-time apparatus, and it does its work better than the lie-detector, now widely used in breaking down the resistance of stubborn criminals.

The reaction-time apparatus records on a disk the time it takes for an idea to penetrate a subject's skull.

Besides testing the speed of thought processes, the machine also is used to determine how long it takes a sensation to reach the mind. The subject sees a flash of light with the nerves in the retina of the eye, and the machine registers the interval before the light sensation reaches the brain.

The device was invented by Dr. Milton Welfessel, professor of Psychology at the University. He calls it the reaction-time apparatus, and it does its work better than the lie-detector, now widely used in breaking down the resistance of stubborn criminals.

The reaction-time apparatus records on a disk the time it takes for an idea to penetrate a subject's skull.

Besides testing the speed of thought processes, the machine also is used to determine how long it takes a sensation to reach the mind. The subject sees a flash of light with the nerves in the retina of the eye, and the machine registers the interval before the light sensation reaches the brain.
